"THE RIVER"

With Charles Farrell and Mary Duncan; from Tristram Tupper's best selling novel "The River"; directed by Frank Borzage. This picture tells the story of a young man, who, reared in the back-woods, decides to see the world and its women by means of a river boat which he made. The first woman he sees who attracts his attention is a worldly-wise miss waiting in a secluded place for her consort, a construction camp foreman, to return from prison to which he had been committed for murder. What takes place when the boy from the back-woods meets this modern Magdalen of the construction camp forms the boy's first lesson in love from the young woman whose most recent lover, the camp foreman, just had been sent to prison. "The River" is the kind of film you will want to see twice, because Tristram Tupper's story deals with a daring romance between a boy of the back-woods who scarcely had seen a woman before and a girl who had seen much of life, and who looks upon the young man as a new kind of play thing. "The River" is a Movietone Talking special. "FORGET ME NOT," an all-talking comedy.

TAKE FIRST STEP BIG CELEBRATION

CONFERENCE IN SAVANNAH WILL INAUGURATE PLANS FOR STATE-WIDE MOVEMENT.

Atlanta, Ga., March 24.—Presentation of plans for expanding the Georgia Association into a State Chamber of Commerce, with departments amply financed to serve every economic need of the state, and especially every phase of agricultural, industrial and recreational development, is to be climaxed in 1933 with a great advertising campaign in connection with the celebration of the Bi-Centenary of Georgia's settlement, are to feature the tenth annual meeting of the Georgia Association, which is announced to be held in Savannah on April 10th.

Mayor Gordon Sausy, of Savannah, and the Savannah Chamber of Commerce are co-operating in the holding of this meeting, at which plans of the Savannah Bi-Centenary Commission for a great celebration in 1933, are to be made public.

A special committee of the Georgia Association, including representative educational leaders of the state, who are familiar not only with the vital needs of Georgia, but who are studying the plans of State Chambers of Commerce in many other states, are working on a budget and on a definite "Build Georgia" program to be presented at the Savannah meeting, for discussion and adoption.

It is understood that the budget will call for not less than $150,000 a year, and that the plan of financing prospective market probabilities in the cotton industry, as well as the most wealthy of the state, looking to a popular enlistment of at least fifty thousand Georgians.

It is stated that this committee has in mind especially the organization of a vigorous land settlement campaign, to be carried out by the state, to habituate Georgia agriculture as well as carefully planned county resource surveys as a basis for attracting capital for investment in the weaker rural counties of Georgia in various kinds of processing plants, the raw material for which is either available or is possible of development.

In addition to this a great movement to be organized and to center around the planning for Georgia's Bi-Centenary celebration in 1933, a commission for which was organized two years ago in Savannah, and which was started several months ago by the Georgia Association under the leadership of Dr. Willis A. Sutton, chairman, and Dr. M. L. Brittain, vice-chairman, of a general Bi-Centenary Commission.

At least one thousand men and women active in the business, civic and educational life of the state, are expected to attend this meeting, a special effort being made to have every county in the state represented. The program and the high reputation, which has been invited, will be announced later.

McLELLAN STORES FORMALLY OPEN

The successful opening of the McLeellan Stores here last Saturday gave evidence of a cordial reception of our community's newest enterprise. From morning to night the store was filled with visitors and the day's sales are said to have far exceeded the expectations of those in charge. McLeellan Stores have come to Statesboro to serve and to stay. They bought their own home and remodeled it to conform to modern needs. They carry a line ranging in price from 5 cents to $1.00 only.

The program will include inspirational messages, reports of conference workers, recommendations and plans for another year. The evening services will be of special interest since the first will be young peoples, the second, social service, and the third, missionaries.

Miss Jella Lake Stevens, council superintendent of young people, will speak the opening night, Mrs. J. T. Douglas, of Albany, conference superintendent of young people will preside. The social service work will be presented Wednesday evening through a pageant written by the conference superintendent, Mrs. J. D. McKey, of Valdosta.

Dr. Fred Barnett, of Atlanta, Ga., former church secretary of lay activities, will give an address on Stewardship Thursday night. Miss Helen Rosser and Miss Sadie Maude Moore, missionaries to Cuba, and Miss Edith Baine, missionary to Cuba, are expected to speak also.

The noon devotion will be brought each day by Mrs. Marcell Wilson, corresponding secretary of the Florida W. M. S. conference. Mrs. J. N. MacEachern, president of the North Georgia conference will speak Wednesday morning. Mrs. G. C. Nunn, of Perry, conference president, will give her annual report Wednesday morning. Miss Mamie Myers' talk in mission study will be Wednesday afternoon.

An address by a Georgia temperance lecturer will be heard Thursday morning. The children's work will be presented Thursday afternoon by Mrs. W. H. Ketchum, of Blakely, superintendent of children. Departmental meetings will follow.

Reports from the council meeting in Macon, Ga., March 12-20, will be given by Mrs. E. B. Stubbs, Mrs. Dan Harris, Mrs. E. P. Penabaz, and Miss Myers, conference representatives.

Rev. Loy Warwick, pastor of the hostess church, will welcome the large number of visitors. Committees from the hostess church are planning for the entertainment of the delegates. Each auxiliary in the conference is entitled to one delegate from the next to one from the young people, and one from the children's societies if these are all organized. Names of delegates should be sent to Mrs. S. A. Hearn, American.

Mrs. W. H. Pittman, conference vice president, will preside at the day sessions. An executive meeting has been called for 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in American.

IS GOOD BUSINESS FOR THE FARMERS

"The Federal Farm Board has asked cotton growers of the South to co-operate with the board in the matter of adjusting cotton production to demand."

We have a feeling that acreage of cotton is too large and we have a further feeling that the average quality of cotton produced is too poor in the matter of staple. Mills of the world do not want very short staples and they will not buy them except at a discount which largely reflects itself in the price of the whole crop.

There is no possible solution of this problem unless we get co-operation of cotton growers themselves. Nobody in the world except the farmer himself produces without any attention to prospective market probabilities. In trying to obtain equality in agriculture it seems necessary that agriculturalists adopt some of the basic principles of other industries. When the United States Steel Corporation, for instance, can not find a market for steel at profitable prices it shuts down some blast furnaces. Last summer the steel corporation was running at 94 per cent of capacity. Later in the year it cut its production to 65 per cent of capacity for no reason in the world except the demand had fallen off. When demand falls off business reduces the supply.

The cotton farmer will naturally ask how he is going to get along with less production. If he can get more money by raising four bales of cotton where he now raises five bales, why should he destroy his own market by raising the extra bale? From 1925 crop of 10,000,000 bales to 1929 crop of 14,000,000 bales it took two and one-half bales to bring $300. From the 1926 crop of 18,000,000 bales the farmer had to sell four and two-thirds bales in order to get $300. Nobody knows how many bales it will take in 1930 to bring in $300, but everybody knows that the more bales there are the more it will take. The safe plan is to grow less but better cotton and feed. The South must feed itself before it can ever become prosperous.

HEALTH NURSE MAKES REPORT

GIVES FULL DETAIL OF HER WORK IN COUNTY DURING MONTH OF FEBRUARY.

Following is a report of the work done by the county public health nurse during the month of February:

Visits to homes, which included:

Babies under one year ..... 13

Preschool children ..... 21

School children ..... 2

Tuberculosis ..... 2

Other sick not listed above ..... 9

Total ..... 59

Visits to schools ..... 30

Visits to clinics ..... 30

Health talks to children ..... 17

Visits regarding general activities ..... 7

Interviews in nurse's office ..... 7

Children given physical inspection ..... 308

(Of this number, 122 defective teeth, 23 granulated lids, 134 had tonsils.)

Children given toxin-antitoxin ..... 260

Children given typhoid vaccination ..... 481

Children vaccinated against smallpox ..... 49

(All these vaccinations were done by physicians, nurse assisting.)

Treated for hookworm under doctors' direction 34.

Classes of home nursing ..... 7

Plans for May day ..... 7

Arrangements for choosing the May Queen of Health have been made. This is done by picking the two or three in each school from the girls between the ages 12 and 14, but not more than a couple months over 14, who seem the nearest physically fit and who seem to be carrying out the work early in the study body chooses the most popular of these two, that is to be sent to Statesboro in April to be given physical inspection by a health officer and nurse from outside the county. The one nearest perfect will act as the Queen of Health for May Day, all others to lead our health parade. This seems the fairest means of making the choice. In some schools there was but one near enough fit to be chosen, in which case the students could not make a choice.

We hope to have a series of well baby conferences in the county last week in April. These will be for purpose of giving every child who will enter school next fall a chance for a physical examination. They will be open to all children from six months of age to school age, the age of six. We hope it will be possible to hold this in a baby show in connection with the May Festival.

With this month Statesboro school is one hundred per cent in smallpox vaccination, with Brooklet and Porten still in line. We hope it will be possible to have several schools one hundred per cent by May Day.

Any children having defects corrected should notify the nurse by sending in the certificate from the doctor or dentist or by coming to the nurse's office in the court house on Saturdays, that is from the schools already closed. In those not closed the teacher should be given the certificate if one is obtained. No children will be allowed to enter the Blue Ribbon section of the parade unless the nurse is notified of the correction before April 25th.

The child health conferences will be conducted by the local Parent-Teacher Associations in each school district if they can be arranged for.

Shad Fishing Season Given An Extension

It will be pleasing information to the public, and especially to shad fishermen, that the state board of game and fish has ordered an extension to April 15th of the season for shad fishing. The season has heretofore closed on March 21st, but the extension was granted on account of the unusual weather conditions which have interfered with the successful fishing during the present season.

Definite plans are now being perfected for the holding of the county fair under the auspices of the new Bulloch County Exposition and fair. The organization of the new company was perfected at a meeting of stockholders Tuesday afternoon when the following were chosen: G. Walter Bird, president; D. B. Turner, vice president; L. A. Akins, secretary-treasurer; Hinton Bane, attorney, and J. E. McCroan, manager.

At the same time committees were named for the promotion of the fair as follows:

Publicity—L. B. Lovett, chairman; S. W. Lewis, Alfred Dorman and D. B. Turner.

Property—E. B. Sorrier, chairman; F. W. Darby and Z. H. Smith.

Exhibits—J. Barney Averitt, chairman; Guy H. Wells, Jake Fine and M. R. Akins.

Live Stock and Poultry—E. J. Poole, chairman; G. C. Coleman and Paul Johnson.

Concessions and Carnivals—G. A. West, chairman; J. A. Addison and E. L. Poindester.

The chairman of the various committees and the officers of the organization constitute an executive committee. The board of directors includes every stockholder.

The date for the fair next fall has been fixed as the last week in September, running into October. This date has been set in order to fit the schedule of the carnival company and from the date chosen for the fair will play a very large part in this section of the state during the fall.

L. A. Akins, who has managed the fair for the past six or eight years, resigned in order to give his time more closely to his farming interests, which are very large. He will remain, however, in an executive capacity with the new concern and will lend his valuable assistance to the organization in every possible way.

J. E. McCroan, the newly elected manager, is a man of wide business versatility and unbounded energy. He will take hold promptly of the affairs of the new organization and will push to the limit to make next fall's fair a better one than ever in the past. The committee members are already planning to begin work, and from the county fair for next fall will begin to attract more and more attention.

EARLY ROAD WORK PUTS 1930 AHEAD

CEMENT EXECUTIVE REPORTS EARLY ACTIVITY TO NATIONAL BUILDING CONFERENCE.

Chicago, March 24.—Prompt and effective response of individual states to the program of expansion in highway construction outlined by the National Building Survey Conference is reflected in a report made today by William H. Kinney, general manager of the Portland Cement Association.

"That state officials are responding wholeheartedly to President Hoover's suggestion to speed up public work is made evident," said Mr. Kinney, "by comparison of concrete road and street award figures for the first two months of 1930 as compared with the same months of previous years. At the end of the first week in March contracts for 18,751,405 square yards of hard road construction had been awarded for immediate work."

This yardage is an all-time record for early contracts. At the same time, the total for the first two months of 1930 as compared with the same months of previous years, the awards totaled over 16,000,000 yards, but in no other year has the total for the same period amounted to more than 12,000,000 square yards.

"Lows, as usual, is leading the states in early awards," said Mr. Kinney. "Louisiana's total for early March is nearly four million yards, most of which represents concrete work in the state's highway program. Missouri is in second place, with awards amounting to a little over two million yards."

"There can be no doubt that the unprecedented volume of street and highway work now under contract will prove to be an important factor in reducing unemployment and in stabilizing the economic situation generally. The effect of this great activity will be felt in every department of industry, for it creates a demand for all types for road building equipment, for sand, stone, cement, steel and the other materials necessary to the building of modern pavements. The purchasing power of many thousands of individuals will be increased, with a consequent tonic effect on business of all sorts."

STEVE HARRIS IS FORCEFUL TALKER

Hon. Steve Harris, of Savannah, delighted an audience of several hundred in the court house Monday evening when he came by invitation of the "Bulloch Builders" to speak in furtherance of the trade-at-home movement. For more than an hour he poured out an array of argument in behalf of the local merchant against chain stores and mail order houses, and his audience sat with apparent relief and approval.

Mr. Harris came up from Savannah with a party of eight friends, arriving just in time for supper before the meeting. The court house was fairly well filled when he arrived and he and his associates were introduced by W. E. McDougald, president of the local organization. Among the visitors of the evening were J. A. Brannen, Chas. Wilkins, T. A. Jones, Prof. Howard of the city schools, and a number of others. Prof. Howard was introduced first and made a short talk along the lines under consideration.

In presenting Mr. Harris, Mr. McDougald referred to him as probably the next mayor of Savannah. The reference delighted the audience and seemed to bring a smile to Mr. Harris' already illuminated face. It was past 10 o'clock when the visitors left to return to Savannah.

With a gleam blowing all the way and water ankle-deep over most of the road, Miss Louise E. Dealy won the 58-mile roller skating race from London to Brighton, Eng.

Mrs. Eliza Grimes Died at Claxton

Mrs. Eliza Edwards Grimes, of this city, died at the home of her grandson, R. C. Edwards, of Claxton, whom she was visiting, last Thursday after a brief illness. In Statesboro Mrs. Grimes made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lilly G. Collins, for the past 25 years. She was born June 14, 1849, and died March 20, 1930. She was married to John N. Grimes June 13, 1868. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lilly G. Collins, of Statesboro; one grandson, R. C. Edwards, and four great-grandchildren. These brothers are A. J. Edwards, A. H. Edwards and J. M. Edwards, all residents of Bryan county near Ellabell. A number of nieces and nephews

50 Years' Use of Black-Draught

"About fifty years ago," says Mr. Lewis G. O'Shields, of Porterville, Ala., "my mother gave me the first dose of Black-Draught, and I have taken it ever since, when I need it for medicine for constipation. I have used this remedy all my married life, in my children, and in my children's children. I have used Black-Draught for heartburn, as I have had spells of this kind, off and on, for years. This follows indigestion, and indigestion comes close on constipation. I have found that the best way to head off trouble is to begin taking Black-Draught in time. It relieves me of dizziness, tightness in the chest and backache. "By getting rid of impurities, Black-Draught helps to keep the system in good order. I always keep it in the home, and have recommended it to many people, in my time."

COUNTY SCHOOLS

"What is the matter with Bulloch county schools?" Bulloch county pays her taxes as promptly and as well as the average county in Georgia, no doubt. Then why is it that we are forced to close our schools before time for them to close?

Reason 1. For the year of 1923 the state owes Bulloch county 30% of the whole year's appropriation and the special aid, or a total of approximately $15,000.00.

Reason 2. For the year of 1929 the state owes Bulloch county 30% of the total year's appropriation and the special aid, or a total of approximately $15,000.00.

Reason 3. For the year of 1930 your county board of education was ordered by the state school officials to not go beyond 60% of 1929 appropriations. Twenty-two percent of 1929 appropriations are paid, leaving 38% unpaid. Local taxes are now used to make up the balance of 78% of the whole year's appropriation plus the special aid.

Reason 4. Several local school districts have fallen in debt and old obligations have to be paid or else holders of school bonds would select some of the best property of the school district and advertise it and sell it for cash with which to pay the school's debt. It would be a nice pickle to have a good man's home levied on and sold for school district debts. That is why some schools had to close earlier than others. Local taxes and not specially county board debt. That ought to be simple enough for the average person to understand.

Reason 5. County boards can not borrow money from banks unless banks are assured that county boards will repay loans. County boards can not repay loans unless the state pays the money due the county boards. Is that simple enough?

Reason 6. County board owes local bank $12,000.00 for which 1928 state balance is held as collateral. Surplus due county board from 1928 state obligation to the county. Leaves surplus for county board of $4,000.00 on paper—not in cash. County board has surplus from 1928 and 1929 state obligations of $9,000.00 above board could we realize on this paper promise. County board has on paper $37,000.00 due by state in 1930 promise or appropriations.

All of term of 1929-30 operated and paid for so far has been paid for by county-wide and school district taxes except a part of one payroll which represents the 22% paid by the state on 1930 appropriations. Had Bulloch county citizens not paid their taxes as well as they have, we would have been in a pickle good and strong. Any other county that is operating schools beyond the 60% limit for 1930 will have long to wait for the money and may never get it. We know we have not gotten the balance due on 1928 and 1929 terms. And we know that the governor says that it is not a debt on the state. Your county board would be a set of dumb horses were they to refuse to obey orders from those in authority further up. It is not that we are using more than has been appropriated. It is because that which has been appropriated has not been paid.

The recent audit of the accounts of my office by Hon. H. D. Chapman, state school auditor, has this statement relative to our financial affairs: "I am pleased to report the books of record in this county as reflecting good business management. The board of education and Superintendent Olliff deserve commendation for the splendid work being done in Bulloch county."

The "chicken supper" given by Stilson P. T. A. recently was one of the most enjoyable occasions of this nature ever experienced. Many citizens of the district and from elsewhere attended and enjoyed the occasion greatly. More than fifty dollars net was cleared for the school with which to pay for supplementary readers for the grades of the school. Recently many of the most desirable books have been added to the Stilson high school library. The library is now getting near to that required and essential standard which meets accrediting standards.

FOR SALE—Buckeye incubator and 124 chicks on the farm, and in 1929 the average farm price was 17.3 cents. A bale of average cotton before the World War would buy 3,600 pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer, while a bale sold at the average 1929 price will now buy about 5,200 pounds of the same fertilizer—over 40 per cent more. Mr. Brand states:

"Southern farmers estimate that they get $4.71 for each dollar spent for fertilizer used on cotton. An estimate based on replies from 14,534 cotton growers who used fertilizer shows that those who used as low as 100 pounds of average fertilizer per acre made an average profit of only $8.23 per acre, while those who used 950 pounds of fertilizer made a profit of $21.86 per acre."

These figures are in agreement with results secured at most of the experiment stations in the Southern states, and it would seem wise for every cotton farmer to reduce somewhat and to use 800 to 1,000 pounds of high grade fertilizer per acre.

A MILLION DOLLARS A DAY IS RAILROADS' TAX BILL

The railroads were returned from the control of the Government to the operation of their owners ten years ago this month. During that time there has been a steady improvement in the service and efficiency of the railroads, while freight rates have been substantially lowered.

Factors of expense over which the railroads exercise control are constantly being reduced, but there is one item of cost beyond their control which is continually increasing, and that is the taxes they are required to pay. The mounting tax bill is a hindrance to reduction in the cost of producing service, and is something the public ought to know about.

In 1920 tax payments made by the railroads as a whole were $272,063,453, while in 1929 the amount was $402,630,307, an increase of $130,566,854, or 48%. Railroad taxes are now more than a million dollars a day. In recent years the railroads have paid more in taxes than in dividends to their owners.

The railroads do not ask that they alone be relieved of tax burdens, but they do encourage every possible study of the cost of government that gives promise of lightening the burden common to every business and to every individual.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Savannah, Ga., March 11, 1930.

BUYING POWER SHOWS INCREASE

SALE OF COTTON WILL BUY MORE FERTILIZER THAN BEFORE WORLD WAR.

Washington, D. C., March 24.—Attention is again being centered on the possible disposition of the government properties at Muscle Shoals as the result of hearings conducted by the senate subcommittee on the investigation of lobbying activities and the house military affairs committee on the floor of the senate and elsewhere urging the manufacture of fertilizers at Muscle Shoals on the ground that present prices of fertilizer are excessive. As a matter of fact, fertilizer costs only slightly more than it did before the World War, while other farm supplies cost, on the average, about 50 per cent more. In fact, a ton of high grade fertilizer, for example a 4-12-4, can be purchased for cash this spring for about the average of the five-year period 1910-1914—in spite of higher labor and manufacturing costs and higher freight rates, according to Charles J. Brand, executive secretary and treasurer, the National Fertilizer association, here.

In the pre-war period, cotton averaged 12.4 cents on the farm, and in 1929 the average farm price was 17.3 cents. A bale of average cotton before the World War would buy 3,600 pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer, while a bale sold at the average 1929 price will now buy about 5,200 pounds of the same fertilizer—over 40 per cent more. Mr. Brand states:

"Southern farmers estimate that they get $4.71 for each dollar spent for fertilizer used on cotton. An estimate based on replies from 14,534 cotton growers who used fertilizer shows that those who used as low as 100 pounds of average fertilizer per acre made an average profit of only $8.23 per acre, while those who used 950 pounds of fertilizer made a profit of $21.86 per acre."

These figures are in agreement with results secured at most of the experiment stations in the Southern states, and it would seem wise for every cotton farmer to reduce somewhat and to use 800 to 1,000 pounds of high grade fertilizer per acre.

Proposed Legion Tower Described

Atlanta, Ga., March 24.—Dr. Chas. M. Strahan, of the University of Georgia, who offers his services free architect of the American Legion Memorial Tower on Old Mount Zion, in a statement just issued, says: "Architecturally, the tower itself will become a part of the massive and lofty mountain elevated 4,464 feet above sea level. It will rise from an exposed rock platform some two acres in extent. The design seeks to make the tower grow out of this natural rock base using a square shaft with spreading buttresses at the corners leading up to a crenelated overhang and balustrade above which the look-out rises."

"It will be built from mountain rock quarried from large boulders found on the margin of the summit, rock with cleavage and hardness well suited to the purpose."

"The base story will have walls two feet thick and the main shaft is planned on a basis of 14 feet square exclusive of buttresses and will rise about 40 feet above the main base, which elevation will command an excellent view of the surrounding region."

Dr. Strahan says the construction camp will be at Slaughter Gap and with due consideration of all factors entering into the cost, the minimum sum of $10,000 was arrived at as the amount needed to provide a substantial, age-enduring monument on the lofty mountain peak.

Dr. Strahan expresses hope that a distinctive beacon light shall radiate at night from the tower, a beacon that will be visible in at least four states, symbolizing a light house of Georgia patriotism.

In the tower bronze tablets are to be placed, carrying the names of Georgia soldiers whose golden stars are on the honor roll of the dead.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. L. Johnson.

NAVY STORES Men Rally to Organize

Turpentine operators throughout the Georgia and Florida belt are rapidly rallying to the ranks of the American Turpentine Farmers Association. Regional organizations, with headquarters at Waycross and Valdosta, Georgia, and at Tallahassee and Lake City, Florida, will soon be in operation, Julian Langer, executive of the association announced today.

Additional organizations will be formed, but probably will not total more than eight. Each regional organization will have a number of subsidiary local units.

The association expects, by the close of May, to have within its ranks more than eighty per cent of the operators in the belt.

A well conceived program of experimentation will be undertaken by the association, through the Pine Institute. This will be designed to derive solely into phases of gum turpentine production and use, with a view both of developing better production measure and of finding wider uses for the product. Assurances that the money provided for this experimentation will be used exclusively in the gum turpentine field will be provided.

Officers of the association and an overwhelming approval of the organization's stand for saving the smaller trees. The regulations of the association, declared by its attorneys to be strictly enforceable by suits in equity, prohibit the chipping of any tree under nine inches at four and a half feet.

At the Valdosta and Tallahassee meetings held last week, the operators voted unanimously to support this provision. A final organization meeting for the Waycross regional will be held Monday, March 25th, while local units will be formed at Pearson and Homerville.

MUST SPEND MONEY

Recently there was held an important conference of business men in Statesboro whose purpose was to assist in a solution as far as possible of the financial troubles in the midst of which our country finds itself. In answer to a question as to the absolute necessity for everybody to economize, one of the speakers and he was a well posted man—announced the proposition that spending wisely is as important as saving.

And then he went on to describe the condition which would follow the shutting off of expenditures. It was easy to understand him as he explained that money must be spent for it to be earned. He made it clear that unless those who have spend, those who need cannot earn.

And that is a bit of logic which is often lost sight of in a drive for economy. If Statesboro was made up of people who store away every dollar that comes into their hands, Statesboro would die of starvation as readily as a man would die if his blood ceased to circulate. This thought is brought up by the recent pronouncement of a well known financier, Trowbridge Callaway, of New York, that the speculator is an important factor in our commercial life. "The average man," he says, "will fare better if he puts and keeps his surplus dollars in savings accounts, sound bonds and stocks, and only those who can afford to should speculate."

The speculator is not an unmitigated evil, neither is the spendthrift. Any man who turns money loose is giving an opportunity for it to get into the hands of the man who may need it worse than he. Certainly money that is hidden away is of no value as a community builder.

Helpful Suggestions
For March Gardeners

According to Mr. C. B. Sweet, the unusually warm weather of February has forced plants into early growth, which may result in considerable injury and loss from cold later on. If the young growth of plants has been killed by the cold they should be pruned back beyond the injured part immediately. Perennials and biennials which have been wintered in cold frames may usually be planted in safety by the end of March. However, it is well to mulch the ground around the plants with straw, and, in case of sudden cold, cover the plants with manila paper or canvas at night.

Beds of seeds recently sown should have very careful attention until a time of transplanting. They should be examined three or four times a day to see if they are moist. Watering should be done frequently and with a fine sprinkler, so that the soil will always be moist but never soggy. If the seedlings should begin to die at the surface of the soil it is usually an evidence of too much soil moisture. In this case dust the soil with a mixture of one part of sulphur to five parts of powdered lime. Seed boxes should always be kept in full sunlight to prevent diseases and leggy growth.

Garden beds should be prepared as soon as weather conditions will permit. Cover the ground with manure and spade in to a depth of ten inches and pulverize. Spade up again prior to setting out plants. In setting out small plants be sure to pack the soil around the roots and water each plant carefully. Nothing is gained by setting young plants out in the open ground on the first warm day that comes. If the plants get too large for the seed boxes or begin to make a slender growth, they should be transplanted into cold frames or other boxes with rows two or three inches apart, and kept protected on cool nights and days until the equinoctial gale has passed and the ground has become warmer. Plants treated in this manner will grow off much faster and more vigorously than those set out to the open too early and returned by the cold. In North Georgia May planting usually gives better results than April, provided strong vigorous plants are used. This is also especially true of certain vegetable garden plants, such as pepper, tomato, eggplant, etc.

We have repeatedly urged that strong manure and mulches be applied to shrub beds, roses and established perennial beds during late February and March. The litter thus obtained should be left on the ground until all possible frost danger is passed, and it is a good practice to let it remain and cultivate it into the soil. This will greatly improve the physical condition of the soil and be of great value as a moisture retainer during dry seasons.

It is well to remember that most iris do not thrive on animal manure. If it is used at all it should be three or four years old and thoroughly rotted. A compost of decayed vegetable matter and leaf mold, with a balanced chemical fertilizer, usually gives better results.

We must have both," Mr. Callaway said. "It is as necessary to progress that we have money in the front-line trenches of speculation as it is that we have reserve dollars less far afield. The living line dollars get and deserve the greater reward. They are out in front where the casualties are heavy, under the direct fire of business competition, and facing those enormous hazards that characterize all human enterprise."

"But only those who know and can bear the risks of the living line should speculate. The average man of modest means is unwise to do so. The late stock market crash, however, furnished a striking example of the hazards of that activity."

"The average man will fare better if he puts and keeps his surplus dollars in the reserve corps—in a savings account, insurance, sound bonds, and the stocks of well-managed companies that have an investment rating."

If he feels, however, that he should seek a long profit in hazardous speculation, he should keep a very substantial part of his surplus in reserve, where the dangers are less and return more certain."

R. C. Stephens, of Glasgow, bequeathed $5,000 and his $10,000 car to his chauffeur.

Large Prize Awards
To Boys and Girls

Boys and girls of this community may enter the search now being made to find the oldest users of America's pioneer fertilizer, according to plans of the Nitrate Centenary Contest, which has been recently announced as a feature of the 100-year history of nitrate of soda in this country. Exactly 100 cash prizes, with $50 as the first award, will be given boys and girls in this state who will write the best stories about farmers who have used nitrate of soda, or Chilean nitrate, as it is now called, for at least 20 years. It is pointed out, however, that if two or more stories are written about the same farmer, only the best will be considered for the awards. An additional prize of $50 will be awarded for the best story written in the entire South.

The farmer in each state, who, according to the stories, has the longest and best record with fertilizer will receive a special award, consisting of one dollar for every year he has used nitrate of soda and an extra dollar for every year over 25 years. In addition the farmer in the entire South who has used the fertilizer for the longest period will be given a $50 award.

The project is sponsored by the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau, in recognition of nitrate of soda, which is the oldest of the commercial fertilizers now used on American farms. The details of the contest have been sent to county agents, vocational teachers, and high school teachers in all parts of the South.

SEVENTY-EIGHTH BIRTHDAY

The children and grandchildren of Uncle Lamb Lanier celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday Sunday at his old settled home in the country, near Nevils, where he has lived for many years.

Uncle Lamb is the father of eleven children, all of whom lived to be grown and married, although death took one of his daughters after her marriage. Of the ten that survive every one was there with him on his birthday. His children had not been together for many years until Sunday, and the day was enjoyed to full extent by all.

On account of rain the table was spread under a shelter, where a real dinner was enjoyed.

We hope to be with him next year on his seventy-ninth birthday. Called to arrest a woman shoplifter in Berlin, Detective Karl Pfalzén found she was his fiancée.

Karl Froehlich, a handsome burglar, of Dresden, has received a hundred proposals of marriage since his arrest.

A cat saved the lives of five children of Timothy Ryan, of Dublin, by jumping on the bed and waking them when the house caught fire.

BULLOCH BUILDERS

"Build With the People Who Build You"

HELLO FOLKS:

You are listening to Station H-O-M-E in a program dedicated to Bulloch county and its interests, and tonight's program, ladies and gentlemen, is especially in the interests of our boys and girls. Most of us boast of a few boys and girls . . . they seem to constitute the major and never-failing crop of this grand state of Bulloch. For their happiness and well-being thousands of parents wake with the earliest bird and after a day of unremitting toil drag weary footsteps homeward when evening falls. All our lives, it seems, are spent "laying up something" for the children's education, planning for their future, trying to fit them for a bigger, broader, more useful existence. We save and stint and scrimp to see them through high school, and with their assistance, usually, on through college. That final graduation day comes . . . and with it the happiness of an ambition realized . . . and likewise, the consciousness that here at last comes the parting of the ways. For Johnnie and Mary are no longer the children of our fire-sides, but now they become men and women of the world.

It was the ambition of our fathers to bring into their business the son or daughter when their majority was reached. It is still the ambition of every worthy parent . . . provided he has a business worthy of the child. And so tonight we are pleading for the child. Pleading to save him from those who would despoil him . . . from those who, like a Pharaoh of long ago, "seek his life." For, ladies and gentlemen of the Times' audience, the Lords of Wall Street, those financial interests who are stifling and choking the freeborn citizens of this country, are seeking the very lives of our children. They would for the sake of personal gain, enslave every human being on earth today, and as never before in the history of the world, they are gaining the power to gratify their desire. After your years of sacrifice and toil for your children, what can you promise them in the way of employment when they reach manhood and womanhood? Have you tried to find work for the lad or the girl? Do you realize that today the chance for the individual is practically "nil"? Do you know that with Chain Groceries, Chain Drug Stores, Chain Dry Goods Stores, Chain Hardware, Chain Auto Supply, Chain Filling Stations, Chain Banking . . . yes, and even Chain Dairy businesses, the chances of your boy or girl getting employment with an honest, home-building, public spirited Independent Merchant grows less and less. You remember years ago how Jones & Brown's business grew and grew, adding more and more clerks from time to time. You probably have noticed lately that most of Jones & Brown's clerks are gone, and if the business survives Mr. Jones and Mr. Brown are working eighteen hours a day doing the work formerly furnishing a livelihood to a dozen clerks.

Do you want your child to become the under-paid and over-worked slave of some Chain Store Baron? Is it your ambition for your boy and girl to work seven days a week, long hours, that some Multi-millionaire of Wall Street may live in more luxury than any Roman Emperor ever dreamed of? Listen folks, you people who spend your money with the Chain Stores and send your cash to some Mail Order Mogul: You are forging a chain, link by link, that will shackle your child and mine to a life of slavery. You are killing forever, in exchange for a few lousy pennies, the opportunity of every honest, red blooded child of the future to be an independent citizen. SLAVES . . . Yes, we said SLAVES.

SLAVES . . . YES, WE SAID SLAVES . . . Listen at this unbiased report, taken a few weeks ago from the national magazine, TIME, speaking of "slave wages" paid Chain Store workers, Miss Mary Elizabeth Pidgeon, of the U. S. Department of Labor, found: " . . . the average wage was $12 per week, and of 5,610 workers investigated, those in Georgia averaged $9 per week. The practice of underpaying girls is practically DEPLORABLE." This is. Is this what you raised your boy and girl for? Was it for this that you toiled and saved? Is this your ambition?

If not, then line up with those folks who are fighting to save Bulloch for the folks who made it what it is today.

SEND IN YOUR LETTERS. ANNOUNCEMENT

RICHMONDCOUNTY
RESULTS SURE

Recently a joint meeting of the city and county boards of health and the county commissioners was held at 24 states to discuss a joint malaria control program.

Dr. E. E. Murphy, representing the city and county boards of health, and Dr. L. M. Clarkson, representing the State Board of Health, discussed the needs of intensive malaria control for both the city and the county. A thorough investigation was made of the county by the State Board of Health, representative previous to the meeting. A plan was recommended whereby a combination of drainage and mosquito larvicide application would be most effective. The county commissioners promised co-operation and a county-wide campaign is expected to be under way in a short time. The State Board of Health promised to serve as a consulting and advisory capacity, outlining a complete drainage system, and assistance with larvicide control. Richmond County is the second county in the State to undertake such a program for county-wide malaria control.

THE WAR IS ON

Successful Results Are Expected.

Malaria is one of the most serious problems now confronting our State. This is not a question for debate when we face the fact that we had an increase in deaths from this cause last year of 37%. The problem of its eradication is receiving the most careful consideration of our State Board of Health. The battle against the mosquito that causes malaria is confined to about thirty-five counties out of a total of 143. However, the fight must be State-wide for two reasons: First, the deaths from malaria affect the entire State in so far as locating new industries and inducing new citizens to locate in Georgia is concerned. The entire State must suffer the stigma of being malaria-infested. In the second place, many of the counties that have heavy infestation are not wealthy, and in fact, have no funds for putting on the fight. Where malaria thrives and people are sick and dying from chills and fever, it is impossible for them to have initiative, energy or money to carry on. There is no detriment to progress that measures up to this disease. The State Board of Health is holding a series of mass meetings to educate the people and to organize them in the fight. We are delighted to have also in our State co-operating with them the United States Public Health Service and the Rockefeller Foundation. A number of counties have already gone to work, others will fall in line. The State Board of Health is badly handicapped on account of not having funds to assist the weaker counties, the entire appropriation being only three and one-half cents per capita for the entire health program. One county in the State has set aside for each individual $1.00 in round figures of its own funds to control this disease. It is very evident that our State Board of Health should have a decided increase in its appropriation that it may subdivide this and other health work in the weaker counties of the State.

Prison Tuberculosis Commission

Governor L. G. Hardman, on Wednesday, May 15, appointed a special committee to study conditions of the tuberculosis unit at the State Prison Farm, Milledgeville, to make a report of its findings, give recommendations, and put the matter before the Legislature for an appropriation for improvements.
Those appointed as members of this special commission are: Judge E. L. Rainey, Chairman, Prison Commission; Hon. J. E. Hyman, State Senator, Sandersville; Mr. J. P. Faulkner, Georgia Tuberculosis Association; Atlanta; Hon. Linton B. West, House of Representatives, Cuthbert; Hon. O. Cooper, Jr., House of Representatives, Macon.

Money for health is always well spent; it is an investment which pays big dividends in the ease, efficiency and production.

SLATS' DIARY

(By Rose Farquhar.)

Friday—well I got a 0 mark in the physiology class this a. m. all on acct. of I answered 1 of the questions entirely wrong and it happened to be the only 1 she asked me. The teacher said what was the principal cause of Indigestion and I said it was most generally all was caused by eating food and vittles and ect.

Saturday—well I guess I mist out on a job to beat 1 diddient give me the right answer to a question. I was a passing Mr. Cram's bake shop and he was a standing in the Door and he said to me. Do you like cookeys to eat and I replied and said well I shud say I do and he said Well I guess I better deliver these my own self then if it is the case. Why do you think that was that way?

Sunday—I neglected taking my bath last night so ma got me up early this a. m. and made me take my bath and I sung and made so much noise that she balled me out when I got done. I said to her that I diddient leave in keeping it a secret about taking a bath even if it was Sunday.

Monday—tonite well I was studying my language lessen I sat pa what was fingers of speech and after heard looked a round the room for a minit he said real low. Fingers of speech is Marryed women.
Tuesday—well I diddient do so good in skool today. The teacher had a test and 1 of the questions was What was a Sluggard and I said Elsy if she new and she sed yes a Sluggard is a prissier. well we both was rone and that is a constellatien every ways. these girls think they are so wise.
Wednesday—the old man witch sicked his dog on us last summer out to his Mellon patch did this morning so now we want sa no more mean things about him, and we all wish he went to the place where we don't think he will doident go.
Thursday—I guess I am just nacherally unlucky. This evning I was a studying my history lessen and the teacher slipped on a banana peeling and fell right in frunt of er house and I never seen it.

SAYS HER HEALTH IS PROOF OF WORTH

"After years of suffering my present fine health and abundance of energy proves Sargon's unusual worth."

"Pains in my right side and back were almost unbearable and I finally had to go to bed and stay there for six months, scarcely able to turn over. I practically lived on milk and soft boiled eggs and even then I would have awful attacks of indigestion. My skin and the whites of my eyes were yellowish, I was nervous and dreadfully run down. I had taken six bottles of Sargon and the pains in my side and back and every trace of indigestion is gone. My appetite is fine, my skin is clear and healthy-looking and I have new life and energy that is simply wonderful to experience again. Sargon Pills toned up my liver to healthy action and ended constipation of 30 years standing.—Mrs. O. A. George, 933 Washington St., Atlanta. City Drug Co., Agents—Adv.

EMERGENCY APPROPRIATION IS NEEDED. CRISIS EXISTS

The twenty-five nurses now employed by the State Board of Health in co-operation with the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, Washington, have already been given notice of their dismissal from service taking effect July 1. This was made necessary because of the fact that the Sheppard-Towner Law, under which they have been operating, has been repealed, and there have been no funds made available to continue their service.

It is sincerely hoped that the counties in which these nurses have been employed will continue their services by making appropriations from their local funds, as the State Board of Health has no money which can be used for this purpose. These nurses have been on a fifty-fifty basis with the county and consequently the counties would only have to appropriate fifty per cent more than they have been appropriating to continue this very important work.

It is hoped that the General Assembly will immediately take this matter under consideration and make an emergency appropriation so that we may have at least one nurse in each congressional district in the State with a supervising nurse, so that there will be no interruption in the work that has been carried on for the last seven years by the Division of Child Hygiene.

THE DAWN OF A NEW ERA

Georgia has long labored under the burden of malaria. The mosquito should have long ago been considered a greater menace to Georgia's prosperity than the boll-woolly. Did you ever hear of a monument being erected signifying the blessing of the mosquito? No, but such a monument was erected in a neighboring State to the boll-woolly which as a blessing in disguise promoted diversification of crops. However, there have been during this past year 657 ground excavations in Georgia and at the head of each no doubt a monument will be erected not significant of the benefit from an insect but of the sad result of the mosquito's deadly bite. Think of this in terms of economic loss, physical suffering, mental anguish.

But we now vision the dawn of a new era. The public is interested as never before. Cities and towns are increasing appropriations for mosquito control. Counties are providing additional levies and personnel for this most important health work. The State Board of Health is working to capacity in rendering assistance. These facts speak for themselves. Malaria will be conquered. It can be done, and economically. Necessity has mothered the invention of new and economical methods. Science has been observant and has witnessed success. Bright dawns a new day resplendent with the light of optimism. Malaria will be conquered—Georgia's Health.

GEORGIA PARENT TEACHERS APPROVE

At the recent annual meeting of the Georgia Congress of Parent-Teachers, resolutions were passed in commendation of the State Board of Health, which all will agree are deserved, and were as follows:

"Sound Health: The Congress favors the development of a program of health education which will guarantee to every child freedom from remediable defects and which will establish right habits, attitudes and ideals of physical and mental health."

"The Congress commends the general work of the Children's Bureau in behalf of the children of the United States and the co-operative activities of our State towards reducing the hazards of maternity and infancy and for promoting the health of mothers and children under the Sheppard-Towner Bill."

It is expected that, inasmuch as the Federal funds have been withdrawn, owing to the Sheppard-Towner law expiring, that the General Assembly will make an emergency appropriation to the State Board of Health to supply the necessary personnel to continue this most important work in our State.

LATE INVENTIONS CROWD OUT HENS

SMALL PER CENT OF CHICKS ARE NOW HATCHED BY THE ORIGINAL MOTHER.

Mechanical substitutes for the fluffy old mother hen are fast crowding the faithful old biddy off her nest on farms throughout the country, according to reports sent to the United States department of agriculture by the crop correspondents of the bureau of agricultural economics. Only 43 per cent of all chickens raised are still hatched under hens the report indicates.

It is worthy of note that in those sections where farm poultry flocks have reached their highest efficiency as profit producers, incubator chicks are used in far greater proportion. In the north-eastern, central western and far western states, where poultry is an important source of farm income, the farm flocks are being raised in a more scientific manner, and incubator-hatched chicks are in the majority. In the South, where farm poultry is not a major source of farm income, a large share of the flocks are grown from hen hatched chicks.

This finding of the department of agriculture coincides with the reports from the contest conducted last year by hatcheries which operate under the slogan, "Hatchery Chicks for Greater Profits." Every one of 41,000 letters from farmers throughout the nation told of profits from farm flocks, after they had started using the hatchery product.

Reasons for this are quite apparent, when the history of the poultry industry through the centuries is reviewed. Continued flock improvement by the hatcherymen has made available hens with high average laying capacity. Farmers have discovered that a comparatively small investment will bring a proportionately large return, provided, of course, proper methods and a fair amount of attention are given their flocks.

Sanitation, observance of proper feeding methods, and attention to the poultry and egg markets, are essentials of profitable poultry raising with which farmers are becoming familiar, often under the tutelage of the hatcheries from which chicks are purchased.

SULPHATE of AMMONIA

TO Mr. J. V. Cochran, of Marietta, Ga., Southeastern Champion in 1929 Cotton Stalk Contest.

Mr. Cochran gives much of the credit for his big yields of cotton to his complete fertilizer program. Both years his fertilizer method was the same. First: a complete fertilizer applied 600 lbs. to the acre before planting and 600 lbs. six weeks later. Second: a side-dresser of 300 lbs. of Arcadian Sulphate of Ammonia in three applications of 100 lbs. each.

Mr. Cochran declares that his experience has convinced him that farmers will get a return of at least $2 for every dollar spent for fertilizer above 200 lbs. and up to 800 lbs. per acre.

Every one can't win first prize but every one can win extra dollars profit from his crops by following Mr. Cochran's method. Whatever you grow—cotton, corn, grain, vegetables or fruit—plenty of nitrogen in your mixed fertilizer and again your side-dressing stimulates the growth that means early maturity, higher yield and better quality. Nitrogen is the element that makes plants grow.

Stamina and Gripping power are essential

The Trucks of today are taking the place of the freight cars of yesterday. They must go anywhere, haul heavy loads and do it all without delay.

The Firestone Heavy Duty Pneumatic leads them all in gripping power. Gum-Dipping gives it the extra stamina needed in exacting service in extreme climates.

Use these tires and our service and reduce your hauling costs.

In mixed fertilizer or top-dressing there is no better source of nitrogen than Sulphate of Ammonia. Arcadian Sulphate is fine and dry and contains 20.56 per cent nitrogen, guaranteed—all soluble, all quickly usable by the plants. It is an American product made by the American industry for American agriculture.

To be sure of your supply, order Arcadian from your dealer when you buy your mixed fertilizer. Farmers everywhere are invited to write The Barrett Company for information about their nitrogen fertilizer problems. Address our nearest office.

THREE O'CLOCKS.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Elizabeth Sorrier delightfully entertained her bridge club, the Three O'Clocks. Pink geraniums were effectively used in the decorations. Book and card sales for high scores were given Mrs. J. P. Foy. Second high was made by Mrs. Frank Simmons. Her prize was a dainty salad course with ice box cakes.

SCARBORO—ALLEN

Of interest to friends in this city and Charlotte, N. C., is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Kathleen Scarborough and Thomas R. Allen Monday afternoon in Fort Lauderdale, with the Rev. John G. King performing the ceremony.

The couple were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Grace Scarborough, who was attired in a green crepe ensemble and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Hamel Morrow was best man.

A brown silk crepe ensemble with blind accessories created the costume worn by the bride. Her hat was of tulle and she carried a bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Allen came to Miami seven years ago from Statesboro, Ga., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Scarborough, of 52 N. W. 45th St. She was graduated from Miami High School in 1927 and is an active member of the Miami Junior Woman's club and the Vagabond club. Her mother was present during the ceremony.

Following Mr. Allen's graduation from Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., he has made his home in Charlotte, N. C., where he is associated with the Remington Co. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will make their home in that city.

Presbyterian Church

A CORRECTION.

The services at the Presbyterian church will be only Sabbath school in the morning at 10:15. The preaching service will be at 8:00 in the evening, preceded by the usual musical service. The pastor will be in the pulpit in the morning, as this is the fifth Sunday, and the last two similar Sundays have furnished a morning program here.

It is hoped that this notice may reach all interested parties. The evening text will be "Ye ask and receive not."

Our people are planning for the approaching meeting of the presbytery (April 15th), and appropriate committees are already at work for the proper arrangements. We are expecting great privileges connected with the visits of the Doctors James O. Reeves, of Nashville, and Ralph Gillingham, of Georgia.

EVENING BRIDGE

Mrs. DeFeville entertained guests for three tables of bridge Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. E. Donohoe, on Savannah avenue. A profusion of early spring flowers gave charm to the home. A dainty salad was served. Cards were given for high score and were won by Mrs. Henry Blitch and Gibson Johnston.

Mrs. and Mrs. Edwin Wilson, of Savannah, were the week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Franklin.

FAREWELL TEA

Among the lovely social events of the week was the farewell party given by Mrs. A. T. Jones Tuesday evening in honor of Frank McKell, who leaves Friday for Laurel, Miss., to make his home. Six couples of his closest friends were invited. A color scheme of yellow and white was effectively carried out. Jonquils predominated as flowers. Bridge and dancing were the entertainment. White beer mugged with yellow ribbon were given as favors. The honor guest was presented with a beautiful pearl handle knife on which the initials "F.M." were engraved. This was a token of love and remembrance from all the guests. The following verse was in the package to be transferred to the memory book in which each guest wrote: "How far you may go, whatever fate may send, come back to us and you'll always have a friend."

During the evening a lovely salad was served with punch by Misses Marion Jones, Louise Addison and Vernon Keown.

MAKING GOOD SALES

YIELD $227,190.

Atlanta, April 1.—With returns complete, Georgia farmers during March received $227,190.27 for their hogs, poultry and sundry other commodities, disposed of in community sales, bringing the total cash sales for the first three months of the year to near the million dollar mark. Sales for each of the months as tabulated by the State Bureau of Markets, are:

January .....$214,211.44
February .....418,799.92
March .....237,190.27

Total 3 months .....$860,111.63

Of the sales during March, 93 cars of hogs were sold for $118,829.99; poultry, 27 cars, $94,519.16; other commodities, $14,048.01, consisting of corn, field peas, potatoes, eggs, velvet beans and soy beans.

A recapitulation of the sales for the three-month period, shows that hogs had the list, 431 cars having been sold for $569,579.92. Poultry is second, 76 cars bringing in $237,491.88 in cash, and other commodities, estimated at 75 cars, sold for $230,045.82, according to returns from county agents and community sales committees.

The hog market last week was somewhat stronger than the week before. No. 1 selling to kill hard, bringing $8.95, A. D. Jones, director of the Bureau of Markets, states, adding that poultry prices paid last week were slightly higher than the previous week. Indications are that poultry prices will remain firm, this week, with a strong market, Mr. Jones says.

CHOLERA CAUSING LOSS TO FARMERS

STATE OFFICIALS WATCHING ILLEGAL MOVEMENT OF HOGS BY TRUCKS AT NIGHT.

Atlanta, April 1.—The illegal movement of feeder hogs, from infected areas in the state, causing heavy losses to producers, Dr. J. M. Sutton, state veterinarian, says in a warning to farmers over the state. "The movement of swine, not properly disinfected and immunized against cholera must be stopped, if the industry is to remain profitable," says the veterinarian.

"A few years ago hogs were moved in small quantities and only short distances," Dr. Sutton says, "but with the advent of the truck and good roads, conditions are changed. Improved transportation facilities enable trucks to convey 40 to 50 hogs weighing 2,000 to 4,000 pounds, from extreme Southern parts of the state into Northern counties over night, and while inspectors are investigating all known movements, requiring hogs from infected areas to be disinfected and immunized against cholera, some shipments evade even the closest placement."

"There are around 1,500,000 hogs in Georgia with 1,200,000 of these in the southern part of the state. Many of these southern counties have open ranges, a condition favoring cholera 12 months in the year."

"Cholera is highly contagious and infectious, and experience proves that even animals apparently healthy when loaded at point of origin, if they have been exposed to cholera on infected premises, unless protected by serum, through a similar exposure, will subsequently die of cholera and if shipped will spread the disease."

"This condition can only be prevented by disinfection and immunization against cholera at the point of origin."

"Healthy hogs are essential to profitable swine production," says Dr. Sutton, "and traffic in sick pigs will surely destroy the industry."

Application Blanks Expected Next Week

Blanks for the farm loan applications have not yet been received. Information from the headquarters of the Georgia Farm Loan Association, at Columbus, S. C., is that the blanks have not yet been prepared, and that they will probably not be ready for distribution before the early part of next week. This information is given for the benefit of those who may be interested.

SECRET OF POWER IN CYLINDER HEAD

The new two-plane cylinder head, designed exclusively for the V-type engine of the Oakland Eight, is proving one of the most successful motor designs of the current year. To this radical new cylinder head is given major credit for the ease and smoothness with which the Oakland Eight develops 85 horsepower from an engine of only 251 cubic inches displacement.

Instead of forming a flat covering over the engine cylinders, the two-plane head is shaped like a broad wedge with the face forming an angle of 135 degrees. When the head bolts are tightened, the Oakland cylinder head is literally wedged into the angle of the engine block, developing a tremendous wedge pressure which compresses the head gaskets until they become entirely leak-proof. This renders practicable the use of the high compression ratio of five to one. That is, the explosive mixture at the top of the compression stroke has been picked into only one-fifth the space that it occupied upon first entering the cylinder. The more tightly a gasoline charge is compressed, the higher is the resulting output of power.

The two-plane design, furthermore, renders possible the use of an exceptionally compact combustion chamber which can be held to extreme limits of precision. Uniform compression depends almost entirely upon uniform size and shape of the combustion chamber in the cylinder head. In the Oakland Eight, with each charge of gasoline mixture exploding in a chamber of precisely identical size and shape, the resulting power impulses also are of precisely identical force. The result is smooth engine operation. This condition is safeguarded by the V-type practice of using two short four cylinder heads, thus minimizing the possibility of warping, which causes unequal power impulses.

The Oakland two-plane design of cylinder head also has enabled the engineer to locate the horizontal valves nearer the cylinder bores than is possible with conventional type of cylinder head. In the Oakland Eight, the valves placed immediately above and almost touching the cylinder bore are said to combine the advantages of both the "L" head and overhead designs, being unusually accessible.

Railroad Equipment In Improved Shape

Atlanta, Ga., March 31.—Railroads of the country on the first of the present month had 11,239 freight cars on order, larger number except for the same date last year when there were 77,820, for any March 1, since 1926, according to announcement made here today by railway executives. Number of new freight cars in service during the first two months of this year totaled 18,217, compared with 3,566 for the same period in 1929.

The railroads also, Atlanta executives said, had more locomotives on order on March 1, 1930, than on any similar date since 1924, the number on that date this year having been 450, compared with 221 last year. Locomotives placed in service in the first two months this year totaled 113, compared with 80 in the same period in 1929.

The world's largest single unit electric generator of 215,000 horsepower has been installed in New York. This generator would have been powered by the water of the Niagara Falls, but it was found that the electric lighting current used in the United States had it been developed 25 years ago.

Los Angeles, March 31.—Competing against a field of 41 other entrants, a 1930 Chevrolet six-cylinder coach, driven by Mrs. Paul Lawrence of Los Angeles, won the sweepstakes and first place in its class in the annual Gilmore Blue-Grass Economy run here February 14.

Every type of road and grade was encountered in the run that covered 200 miles between Los Angeles and the Wrightwood mountains. Mrs. Lawrence's Chevrolet demonstrated its economical operation over a course that included city traffic, country roads and mountain stretches along a circuitous route rising from sea level to an elevation of 6,000 feet.

To win the event, the Chevrolet coach traveled 36,711 ton-miles to the peak of gasoline, averaging 30.5 miles for the 200 miles traveled. The total weight of the Chevrolet coach, with its driver and four passengers, was 5,580 pounds. No oil and no water was used during the run.

The economy test was staged under the sponsorship of the American Automobile association, sanction number 2,306 and was limited to stock cars. Six classes of cars were represented among the 42 entries. The Chevrolet coach, with Mrs. Lawrence at the wheel, not only won first place in its class, but, in addition, won the sweepstakes for all classes.
